Rev. Boyce Taylor, of Murray, Ky., will preach at the Baptist church Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. Rev. Taylor is the son of Rev. W. C. Taylor, who conducted the great revival here in 1886. He is a graduate of Bethel College, Russellville, and also of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville. He is a very brilliant young man and one of the ablest young ministers in the State. Every citizen in Hartford should hear him.

Mr. James Bullock, of near Smallhouse, was drowned in Green River last Friday night. He had been ill for some time, which illness, in a degree, affected his mind. While the party waiting on him was absent from the room, Mr. Bullock arose from the bed and leaped into the darkness, running at full speed toward Green River. At a short distance from the house is a high bluff, towards this he ran as though for life, not stopping but leaping headlong into the water and to death. The body was since found near Runsey, returned and buried in the family cemetery. He fancied that some man was trying to kill him.

Our board of councilmen have promised the town brick side walks, street lamps and a stock law to the effect of keeping off the streets dogs, hogs and horses. The town has been enjoying the benefit of excellent street lamps. The council has begun its promises to keep, that dogs, hogs and horses shall go and brick walks laid on all the streets and alleys of the town. A four and a half foot walk is to be built from the Walker property to Union Street, near the college. All walks are to be four and a half feet wide. These improvements are much needed and when completed will add greatly to the comfort, convenience and appearance of the town.

Drowned.

Mr. Conts Miller, of the Sunny Dale community, was drowned in Rough River Wednesday evening at about sundown, at the Comb farm, about six miles above town. Young Miller had gone down the creek on a raft of logs and was returning home in company with Eliza Durbin. They had gone up on the North side of the creek and failing to find a boat undertook to swim the river. Miller was leading and near the South shore when his strength gave away and he went down.

The swiftness of the water made the task at swimming great and his clothing also added to his burden. The body has not yet been recovered and possibly may never be. Young Miller was nineteen years old. He was the son of Mr. Jo Miller, of Sunny Dale.

Night in the Holy City.

Jerusalem has neither street lamps, policemen, postmen nor newspapers; people who go out at night are ordered to carry lanterns under a heavy penalty. The keeping of three successive Sundays—Mohammedan, Jewish and Christian—leads to much loss of time, for the lazily disposed observe all three. * Night in the Holy Land is a thing to be remembered. The air is soft and balmy, neither hot nor cold; the sun, setting like a globe of embers the top of the blue vapor which ever hangs over the Moabite Mountains and Dead Sea with iridescent tints. The sky is literally powdered with stars, not gleaming as they do on a frosty night in the North, but soft and dreamy.—EX.

The Greatest Rainfall in Years.

The most destructive rains that have fallen in this section of the State in years visited this section last week. The heaviest rains seem to have been along the course of Barnett's creek, along which stream, fences of every kind were carried before the rushing flood. A large number of small cattle and hogs which were running at large in the bottoms, were drowned. Two families that were living on Mr. Jeff Bell's farm were run out, the water standing at least four feet in the houses. Mr. Bell informs us that the water was never known to be in these houses before. We have been informed that another family whose name we failed to secure, living in the flats came near finding a watery grave, only escaping by knocking boards from the roof and ascending to the top of the house. From various sections of the county north of Rough river reports come that crops in the low lands are all either submerged in water or covered by the sand and deposits from the waters. Not only have the crops in low lands been almost completely destroyed, but crops on the up land have suffered little less, as they have in many instances been washed out. All the small bridges and culverts in the region of the extreme heavy rainfall were washed out. In fact, reports come from all sections that very great damages have resulted to roads and bridges. All in all the rainfall throughout the county has been as great as was ever known at this advanced period of the season.

What Will the End Be?

Circuit Court adjourned last Saturday amid confusion and discord among the attorneys. Quite a little war of words was waged between some of the attorneys, and one prominent attorney lost his temper and gave the lie to some one who questioned his sincerity. Finally peace and brotherly tranquility intervened and the doors of the court hall were closed. The work of the court was about as usual, excepting there were quite a number of fines imposed on "blind tigers" and "gamblers," aggregating about $2,500.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the court, to the citizens of Hartford, was the work of the grand jury. The people were interested in the work of the grand jury from the fact that it is first through this judicial function, then court, that they hope to exterminate the "blind tiger" and suppress the illicit sale of liquor. The grand jury acquitted itself admirably and the case is now with the court. Will he come to the aid of a struggling and helpless people, or will he uphold the illicit sale of liquor in the town of Hartford? The citizens of Hartford said by an overwhelming majority that whisky should not be sold in the corporate limits of the town, notwithstanding this fact it has been sold in immense quantities, judging by the number of indictments returned by the last grand jury. Through the efficient work of Mr. G. E. Matlock 13 indictments were returned against B. B. Collins, 8 against Wm. Aultmire, 3 against Jas. F. Carson and 5 against Quinton Iler.

It is a sad fact that some of the most influential citizens of Hartford are aiding and abetting those engaged in the illicit sale of whisky, but with the aid of his honor, the court, and with the efficient service of the county attorney, this whisky business can easily be destroyed. The county attorney has proven himself anxious to perform his duties as an official and we believe the court will do his whole duty in this matter and rescue the town of Hartford from the enemies of law and order. What will the end be?

All Over the County Paper.

Here is the latest story on the man who is too stingy to take his home paper: "The man who was too economical to take the county paper, sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste, the boy ran over a four dollar stand of bees, and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance and failing to notice a barbed wire fence ran into that, breaking it down cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a four dollar pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the cornfield, and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket the wire ran, upset a four gallon

Indictments Returned by the Federal Court.

Perhaps the shortest term of any court, considering the unusually large amount of business on hand, that was ever held in Owensboro, took place in the past two days in the United States Court. When the court opened Monday morning, there seemed to be enough business to insure a whole week's sitting, but the manner in which Judge Evans disposed of prosecutions as well as civil business was something remarkable. There were about thirty five cases stricken from the docket, not mentioning the business done on the civil docket, as well as the work that was brought before the grand jury. The petit jury was discharged this morning and the grand jury completed its work at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.—Inquirer.

Mr. James Beatty Ireland, of Skillman, celebrated his 103rd birthday, last Monday, June 4. He was born in Nelson county, June the 4th, 1797 and has lived in Hancock county for a period of sixty years.

His health is remarkably good and his mind is as clear and active as that of a man of forty years of age.

He takes a great deal of interest in public affairs and discusses them with intelligence.

Three years ago Mr. Ireland's birthday was celebrated in a grove near Skillman by a large number of friends. Few would have believed he would be living and active three years afterwards. At this celebration there were men present whose ages ran from 50 to 75 years, who have passed away. At the present condition of Mr. Ireland's health, there isn't any reason why he may not live many years yet.—Breckinridge News.
